RATIONALE

The conference is the opportunity to disseminate final results of the European project Empowering Hospital EMP-H.

The project pursues the following objectives:

1. Reducing exacerbations of chronic diseases;
2. Reduce the incidence of preventable behavioural risk factors (poor diet, physical inactivity, smoking, alcohol abuse);
3. Improve health and quality of life through correction of unhealthy habits;
4. Encourage the development and diffusion of a culture oriented on prevention among health practitioners, patients and relatives;
5. Create supportive environments for healthy habits.

Change adults lifestyles is not an easy challenge as patients should be guided through a salutogenic pathway in which customized services have to be adapted on their specific needs. EMP-H tries to integrate health promotion actions under an interdisciplinary framework.
