WHO WE ARE

Cosmo Food is born from the increasing need for a local reference for Italian producers and international supermarket chains, distributors and importers.

Our team works everyday building connection between foreign companies in search of made in Italy quality and local producers. Our main goal is to preserve and protect Italian food tradition, without losing focus on foreign markets and their dynamics.

IMPORTANT

Important as we work with many private labels , most of the products are out of our catalog, so for particular and innovative requests, we ask you to send a request via email with an updated brief.

HPP

What's HPP?

A process that subjects the juices to high hydrostatic pressures for "cold pasteurization" from unwanted microorganisms. The product, once cold-pressed and bottled, is placed in a high pressure chamber, where it remains for a few minutes at low temperatures at a pressure of 6,000 bar: in this way, despite the treatment, the fruit retains its taste and color, the scent and its nutritional properties.
